This is a really simple and dumb problem, but I've been trying to transfer a Fable 3 save from a previous game over to my other computer. I think I know about the encryption and such, how it uses an ID from that computer, and the easiest way is just to transfer the account info and paste it into my folder on my new computer. However, I didn't think to grab that. I've got a save editor, and I've been trying to transfer the GFWL blob over to my new save, buuut I'm dumb. Any way you gents/ladies might deign to help?

so you have timeslip GFWL remover and save editor?
then you need to open save and replace 'xuid upper\lower parts' to 10001000 and put that save to 1000100010001000 folder in your ..\Documents\Saved Games\Lionhead Studios\Fable 3\ or maybe you can replace 'xuid upper\lower parts' with your new ID and _maybe_ it will work
