I don't know a lot of the Dev history behind fable 3, which is why I am bewildered by the missing (Same screen)co-op 2 player function the console version possessed, was this a decision based on the PC community, a limitation of hardware, or maybe a limitation on the Dev part of things?

With the way the game is it appears there may be no way to have even the slightest bit of online play for fable 3 today even if it's local in the the same room kinda online...

So my question here is, is the co-op function still in the PC version somewhere, and if so is it possible to mod it to be used again on the PC?

I'm not a 100 percent sure. I assume it's a dev thing though.
